

An architectural rendering of a courtyard. The scene is dominated by a large, mature tree on the right side, casting long shadows across the paved ground. The courtyard is enclosed by multi-story brick buildings. The building on the left features a series of large glass doors and windows. The building in the background has a distinctive perforated brick facade. A few stylized human figures are scattered throughout the courtyard to provide a sense of scale and activity. The overall atmosphere is bright and airy, with soft shadows indicating a sunny day.
